BrickHouse GPS Marks Five Years Shipping Free Laptops to Cancer Patients Seeking to Stay in the Workforce

INDIANAPOLIS, IN — BrickHouse GPS is publicly sharing, for the first time, its five-year partnership with Cancer and Careers, and reaffirming its ongoing commitment to the program.

Since 2021, BrickHouse GPS has supported Cancer and Careers by donating warehouse space, staff time, white-glove fulfillment support, and shipping costs to get free laptops into the hands of patients and survivors who need one to keep working, interviewing, or moving their career forward. Cancer and Careers provides the laptops. BrickHouse GPS's warehouse team in Indianapolis stores them, prepares custom shipments, and ships them at the company's own expense.

Over that time, the partnership has grown from a favor into a routine part of how the company's warehouse operates. More than 200 laptops have shipped so far as part of the Technology Assistance Program, each one going to someone dealing with treatment, recovery, or a job search that got harder the moment a diagnosis entered the picture.

"Cancer and Careers needed more than warehouse space. They needed a team that could handle custom shipments carefully and reliably for people who were already dealing with enough. White-glove support is how we operate our own warehouse, so putting that capability behind this program was a natural fit. Five years later, we are proud to keep helping get these laptops where they need to go," said Todd Morris, CEO of BrickHouse GPS.

Cancer and Careers is marking its own milestone this year: 25 years of helping people with cancer stay in the workforce. In 2025, the organization's programs reached more than 600,000 people through its English and Spanish websites, delivered resume feedback to 224 job-seeking survivors, and distributed more than 80,000 publications. In 2026, the organization launched its inaugural Best Companies for Working with Cancer Index, recognizing 17 organizations for building recovery-forward workplaces. This year's final conference is the 12th annual West Coast Conference on Work and Cancer, which will be held virtually on October 17.

"We're so grateful for this special partnership. BrickHouse GPS' support is essential to ensuring our community has access to reliable technology. It is easy to underestimate how important a computer is, but when you don't have one, it makes everything from telehealth appointments to accessing supportive resources to participating fully in the workforce nearly impossible. This program changes that one individual at a time," said Rebecca V. Nellis, Executive Director of Cancer and Careers.

BrickHouse GPS plans to continue its support of Cancer and Careers through the West Coast Conference and beyond. More information about Cancer and Careers' programs, including its Balancing Work & Cancer webinar series and Resume Review program, is available at cancerandcareers.org.

About BrickHouse GPS

Founded in 2005, BrickHouse GPS is a GPS tracking and fleet telematics company providing GPS, asset tracking, dash camera, and connected vehicle software through its hardware-enabled SaaS platform. It operates two distinct brands: BrickHouse Security, serving consumer and small-business markets, and BrickHouse GPS, dedicated exclusively to business and government customers with more advanced fleet and asset management needs. Each brand has its own dedicated website, with BrickHouseGPS.com supporting fleet telematics, asset tracking, dash camera, and connected-vehicle software customers, and BrickHouseSecurity.com serving as the e-commerce destination for consumers and small businesses purchasing GPS tracking products.

BrickHouse GPS maintains its physical office and distribution operation in Indianapolis, Indiana.

About Cancer and Careers

Cancer and Careers was founded in 2001 to support every person in every industry and every job so they can thrive in their work and their life after a diagnosis. For patients, survivors and caregivers, CAC offers free educational events, tools and resources that address the practical, legal and psychosocial challenges of balancing treatment and recovery with employment. As the recognized authority on issues of work and cancer, leading cancer organizations, hospitals, employers and the general public turn to CAC for in-depth information on this critical but often overlooked piece of the cancer experience. CAC offers healthcare professionals access to dedicated resources, accredited events and in-service trainings, while partnering with employers to develop clear policies, effective programs and scalable workplace practices.
